DINNER THEATER

A Country Music Murder

The Bodacious Bodines are back on the road! These three singing sisters were once a Country Music sensation. They even almost had a hit record once. Now, the sisters are singing again, but their daughters have joined them and the group is off to Nashville to try to make it in the music business. And, there is more than a little rivalry about who will be the lead singer of the group. Could it be one of Raylene Bodine's daughters? Raylene, or Auntie Mama as she is called, is the ramrod of the group. But Arlene Bodine was the former lead singer; maybe one of her daughters will provide some competition. Arlene and Raylene have some issues anyway, since Raylene stole Arlene's husband all those years ago. Then, there is wacky and clumsy Durleen Bodine and her daughter. The sisters and their girls will present a Farewell Concert, as they go on the road to seek fame and fortune.

MUSICAL PERFORMANCE

Timothy Seaman, Hammered Dulcimer Player

This native West Virginia son comes home to the mountains to share his talents. Seaman will perform on this 85-string ancestor to the piano. The many strings are struck by small "hammers" for a delectable and moving effect, especially as played by this internationally known recording artist. Seaman makes West Virginians proud with his featured renditions of such classic folk melodies as 'Scarborough Fair', "Amazing Grace", and "The Water is Wide", plus vibrant new compositions celebrating nature and history, with titles like "Sycamore Rapids" and "Spring in the Gap". He gets the audience involved with the many other instruments that he brings along.

Elvis Tribute Artist, Franky Dee

Join us for a return performance of this Elvis Tribute Artist, Franky Dee. Both events were sold out last season and everyone was asking for more. Celebrate Valentine's Day with a musical tribute to the great Elvis Presley. Franky Dee has the voice and the moves of the late Elvis. He stirs the crowd with his moves and is known for leaving his scarves wrapped around the neck of ladies in the audience.

JAZZ PERFORMANCE

Stolen Moments

Stolen Moments is a jazz group with a quartet of vibes, guitar, bass and drums. This group of experienced, talented individuals is a part of the West Virginia Symphony Orchestra, who enjoys the interaction with smaller groups as well. You won't regret spending an evening enlivened by this jazz group. We all need a little "jazz" in our lives and this group will give it to you.

DINNER THEATER

Grace O'Malley featuring Karen Vuranch

Irish legend abounds with stories of Grace O'Malley, a pirate queen who sailed the high seas in the 16th century. Even more compelling, the colorful stories of her life can be documented in fact. Not only did she fight against the conquest of Ireland by its powerful neighbor, England, she also commanded an army of men and remained a leading political figure in a time when women had no personal power. Through the story of Grace O'Malley, American audiences can begin to understand the contemporary political struggles in Ireland by learning about the era in which these conflicts first arose. Grace O'Malley performed in the Chautauqua style, will give a monologue of the exciting life of O'Malley and then a questions session answered in character.

DRAMA & 18TH CENTURY LIVING HISTORY

The Legacy of Mary Ingles

The Mary Ingles Trail Associates will present a historical drama based on the life of Mary Draper Ingles. Embroiled in the turmoil of the French & Indian War, Mary was captured by the Shawnee Indians in July 1755 and after several months, she escaped and made her way back home by walking more than 500 miles. Join us for an educational living history lesson of early western Virginia from the 1750s-1800s. Participants will be able to visit with Mary Draper Ingles and hear some of her story; learn some of the challenges faced by Rebecca Boone, wife of Daniel Boone; as well as glimpse into the lives of many other historical figures of the past. You will hear of the lives of the Cherokee, Shawnee, and other Eastern Woodland Indians of the area, and become acquainted with settlers of this land and how they felt about its vastness and dangers.

AMERICANA-COUNTRY ROOTS-TRADITIONAL FOLK

John Lilly

John Lilly is an award-winning songwriter, guitarist and singer whose sound recalls another era. He blends timeless originals with country music classics and traditional folk to create an entertaining and enlightening evening for all ages. In 2005, John won first place in the international Ghost Writers in the Sky Songwriting contest for new songs written in the style of Hank Williams, Sr. In 2007, his CD recording "Haunted Honky Tonk" reached No. 1 on both the Freeform Americans Roots radio chart and the Euro Americana radio chart. According to one reviewer, "If Hank Williams had a sunny disposition, he'd be John Lilly." John makes his home in Charleston, WV, where he is the editor of Goldenseal magazine — the state's quarterly journal of traditional life. More information is available at www.johnlillymusic.com
